A HISTORY OF THE JOHN B. KOHLHEPP FAMILY

It was on January 26, 1872 that John B. Kohlhepp and his lovely wife Margaret, on a small farm in Marchand, Pennsylvania, celebrated the birth of their eighth child--Clark Wesley. John had bought the farm from Peter Peffer (no relation to his father-in-law) seven years earlier, on October 5, 1865 for $1500. The farm had a log house and a barn on it, but John and his wife and children cleared much of the land and erected a frame house and barn, both of which are still being used by the Clark Kohlhepp family today.

Before buying the farm, John had worked at Caldwell Furnace, sometimes called Mahoning Furnace, in Armstrong County. He was a teamster, driving six mules hitched single file. He rode the lead mule, "Chunk" and drove with a jerk line, hauling iron ore and pig iron. He soon worked his way to become boss on the job. Leaving and travelling west, he returned to buy the small farm where he and Margaret settled with their six children: Catherine, William, John Andrew, Emma, Mary and George. Samuel was born three years later, on May 23, 1868 and one other child was born after Clark, Lula Sarah on October 7, 1874.

John Kohlhepp was born in Swatchenholz, Germany, and was about thirty-three when he traveled from the port of Bremen, Germany to New York, landing in June 1847. As it was his intention to reside in this new land, he made application for citizenship in the United States of America on the thirty-first of August, 1853. He swore his allegiance before Judge J. E. Meridith, Prothonotary of the Court of Common Pleas of Armstrong County, Pennsylvania. After the five year probationary period, John Kohlhepp was granted citizenship on March 4, 1856. A brother, Hartman, and a sister, Margaret with her son, John were supposed to have accompanied John to America; but no contact has been made with them.

John's wife, Margaret Peffer, also came from Germany. Margaret was the daughter of Peter and Elizabeth Homan Peffer. Elizabeth had died before the family left Germany, and Peter had married her sister, Anna Homan. The family had lived in Huntelhof, and came to America in 1847 from Hesse Canal. Their farm in Germany had consisted of several plots of ground in different places, some of them being some distance apart. Margaret used to take her knitting with her when she drove cattle to one of these plots to pasture, and would knit while watching the animals. The eldest son in the family, John, being born in 1828, came to America first, in 1841. Six years later, Peter and his family sailed to America and settled on Holland Land, being patented to the Holland Company in 1802. The farm was located in North Mahoning Township, Indiana County, Pennsylvania, perhaps a mile from the village of Marchand. Until 1960 the farm had remained in the Peffer family, belonging most recently to Mrs. Samuel

Peffer.

Margaret was fourteen years old when the family came to America, and it was a rough voyage in the small, two mast ship. The journey took <sup>two</sup> weeks, and a young brother, <sup>2</sup>John, died at sea. Margaret's father, Peter, died in 1878 at the age of 77. Both he and Anna, his second wife, are buried at Zion <sup>3</sup>Lutheran Church, near Covode.

John B. Kohlhepp and Margaret Peffer Kohlhepp were married after prayer meeting in the home of John Peffer, July 12, 1851. On their farm they raised and sold horses, cows, pigs, sheep and chickens. Margaret spun and knit the wool from the sheep; rendered lard and tallow from the slaughtered animals making candles and soap, which the family used. Many haps and quilts were needed to keep the family comfortable. Fruit was dried, meat was salt cured and smoked, wood was cut to keep the fires going, and happy times were shared with neighbors at the Kohlhepp home. John B. and Margaret were pioneers, and that's a fact.

German was spoken in the Kohlhepp home until Samuel had difficulty learning to talk. John B. was road supervisor in East Mahoning Township and treasurer of the church, and kept all his records in German. Marchand was a German-speaking community, and church services were in German. Margaret Peffer was a member of the St. Paul's German Reformed Church, known as "Roundtop Lutheran", and now the Mount Zion L<sup>u</sup>theran Church in Trade City. Little Zion in Covode was one of the first churches in the community, and it was here the Kohlhepp family came to worship, although it was about six miles from the farm. Later they helped build the Evangelical Association Church in Marchand, now the Marchand United Methodist Church. It is still the Kohlhepp's church home.

Information in the historical summary was provided from a Pennsylvania History, the John B. Kohlhepp English Bible(property of the Clark Kohlhepp family), and memories of Clark W. and Ida Cook Kohlhepp, compiled by Lillian Esther Kohlhepp and edited by Glenn B. Kohlhepp.

A HISTORY OF JACOB (KOCH) COOK AND HIS DESCENDANTS

JACOB (KOCH) COOK

Jacob Cook came to America about 1828 at the age of nineteen (19), to keep from serving in the German army. He was born in Darmstadt, Hessa, Germany. With him came at least one brother. It is supposed they landed at Baltimore, Maryland. The brother moved west and is lost to us.

Jacob learned the tailorin<sup>a</sup> trade in Germany. Legend tells us he brought nineteen shirts with him from Germany. When he wanted to make a new pair of trousers, using a newspaper he would cut out a pattern. The trousers were always broad falls. The pressing iron, dubbed the Goose by the Cook family, was heavy, long, and narrow.

The voyage from Germany was rough. It took six weeks on the sailing ship to make the voyage. One night, during a storm, their boat was blown back so far it took them three days to recapture their position. After his marriage to Catherine (krife) Grife he worked as a laborer on the Baltimore and Ohio Canal. His wife cooked for some of the men on the project.

Later, we find he settled on a farm in Perry Township, Jefferson County, Pennsylvania. This farm consisted of three parcels of land.

The first parcel, being the eastern part of lot number 2 of tract number 329 of land known as the Holland Survey. It is the same land conveyed to Jacob Koch(Cook) by Alexander Calwell, et. al., by deed recorded in the Office of the Recorder, Jefferson County. It was bounded by Daniel McGaughey, Latshaw, Charles Smith and John Grife. It contained seventy-four(74) acres and eighteen(18) perches.

The second piece, being the middle division of lot number 2, tract number 329 of Holland Land Survey, being the same premises conveyed to Jacob Koch(Cook) by deed bearing the date the fifteenth day of March, 1849. Bounded by John Grife, Kelly, Smith and Blose, and containing forty-nine(49) acres and eighty-three(83) perches.

2. Annabelle E. Bateman Kohlhepp

The third parcel was bounded by Jonithan Smith, Charles Smith Jacob Cook and John Grife, containing twenty-six(26) acres. We were told that Jacob Cook paid $5.00 cash for this piece of land, the remainder had been paid by labor.

From timber cut off his farm Jacob Cook built a house and a barn. The lumber was sawed at the Grife mill on the adjoining farm.

The foregoing described tracts of land being the same premises which Jacob Cook, by his last will and testament, bearing the date of the sixth day of March, 1880, gave and devised to his son, Daniel Cook.

Jacob Cook and his wife Sophia spent the remaining days of their life on this farm. Jacob Cook's final resting place is St. Jacob Cemetery, Jefferson County, Pennsylvania.

*Catherine Grife Cook
wife of Jacob Cook*

We have learned very little of Catherine Grife Cook. She was the mother of Christena, who later married John Humble; Elizabeth, who died at the age of fourteen; Lucy Ann, who pre-ceder her mother in death, living eleven months; Daniel M., who later married Mary Jane Postlewait; Jacob, Jr., who lived to be twenty-three years old; and John, who died at the age of three.

Catherine had red hair. At one time it had been cut and her daughter Christena had it. Later it was given to her son, Daniel. Daniel said, "the only thing I can remember of my mother was that she made me a new pair of trousers, after finishing them she put them on me, then held me on her lap." Her folks must have lived on an adjoining farm from the Cooks. There are pictures of some of the Grifes in the Cook Family Album. (Barbara, Lucy, John, and Mr. & Mrs. Henry Grife.) In the pictures Daniel looks very much like Henry Grife.

Sherman and Laura Cook visited some of these relatives when they were in the west.

Catherine died at the age of thirty-five, and is buried in St. John Cemetery, in Jefferson County. The grave was not marked, so we don't know where it is located. Some of the children were buried there also, others on a Blose Farm.

*Sophia Winning Cook
wife of Jacob Cook*

Sophia was the second wife of Jacob Cook. She was born April 12, 1804 in Huntelhof (Chicken Yard), Hessa, Germany.

Before coming to America, Sophia was employed in the household of the Govenor of Hessa. When she decided to come to America, the Governor's daughter presented her with an ivory tipped, prune wood Flax Wheel, also a flax tablecloth.

Ida Cook Kohlhepp remembered her grandparents very well. She tells that Grandmother Sophie cut a wart off her foot, it bled so profusely it frightened her, so she called her daughter-in-law, Mary Cook, who assisted her in stopping the bleeding. Later a cancerous growth developed where the wart had been on her foot. After the growth on Sophia's foot became very painful, in her memory she went back to the time when she was cooking in the Governor's house. She would tear her apron in pieces for dish rags. Finely it got so rough, Grandfather Jacob asked Mary to do their cooking, and help care for Grandmother. At this time the house was divided, and Grandmother's kitchen was what later the Daniel Cook family used for a living room, at that time it was known as the parlor. When Grandmother was well, she was an excellent cook. Ida remembers especially the potato cakes, made from raw potatoes. After they had been fried, she layed pine splints on the platter to stack her cakes to keep the under ones from becoming soggy. Some times she called the children into her kitchen and gave them pieces of bread, spread with butter and honey or molasses. The story is told that when one of the step children was very ill, he wanted to see a corn patch he called his, and his step-mother carried him to see it.

Daniel was only seven years old when his mother died, but he said his step-mother was very kind to them. She is buried beside her husband at St. Jacob.

A HISTORY OF THE POSTLEWAITE FAMILY

POSTLEWAITE

John Postlewaite and his three brothers were immigrants, some say from England, others think Scotland. The three brothers perished in the Revolutionary War. John was an early settler in the vicinity of Harrisburg. Another writer gives the place as being a location on Conestoga Creek, Lancaster County, Pennsylvania. The dates given for the arrival of the brothers in America was between the years of 1709 and 1713. John also served in the Revolutionary War.

His son, also named John, moved in 1818 from West Morland County and located with his family one and one-half miles northwest of Perrysville.

In 1822 his son, David Postlewaite, purchased the Stewart and McBride right of settlement in what is known as Round Bottom, near Whitesville, now known as Valier. Here, with his brother John, who preceded him, settled on Pine Run. Others, including the John McHenry family, also settled in Round Bottom.

Joseph Warren Postlewaite, son of David and Jane M. Bell Postlewaite, was born in Ringold, Jeffferson County, Pennsylvania, in 1832. The Joseph Warren Postlewaite land was patented to James Hutchison in 1814, and was purchased in 1854, and resided on it since 1870.

On the adjoining farm of James W. Crossman was an Indian burial ground. When this valley was first settled, the Indians occasionally returned for hunting and fishing excursions.

A HISTORY OF THE McHENRY FAMILY
(ancestors of Mary Jane Postlewaite Cook)

The first of this branch of McHenrys to come to America was Issac McHenry, who was born in Scotland in 1734 and whose wife was Jane Smith or Smythe, as the Scotch often spell the name.

The first we know of Issac was his taking the oath of allegiance in 1777 (See Dallas Albert's History of Westmoreland County.) The name is there spelled McHendry. Later, before 1800, he settled three miles north of Indiana, Indiana County, Pennsylvania, what was known as the James Hamilton farm. Then he moved to North Mahoning Township, Indina County, where he, his wife and two sons died in the fall of 1812, all during the same week. (James, 33 years; and Samuel, 36 years.) They lie in the cemetery at Gilgal Church in East Mahoning Township. This is one of the oldest cemeteries, being organized in 1808. Issac, the father, served in the Pennsylvania State militia.

WILLIAM, born in 1770, married Sidney Gordon

ISSAC (William was with Anthony Wayne in Ohio in 1793 and 1794, and with him, his brother Issac, who died in the service.)

He was a major in the State Militia, serving two terms under Governors Snyder and McKean. He took part in the Indian War. He died in 1812 at the early age of 33 years.

THE ANCESTORS OF MARY JANE POSTLEWAITE COOK

I have Mrs. Ella Postlewaite Bodenhorn to thank for the following information copied from a History called THE STUCHELL FAMILY, printed in 1895 at the Independent Office, Marion Center, Pennsylvania.

John Stuchell, a pioneer of German descent came to Indiana County in 1785 with his wife, Mary Lydick Stuchell, and family of seven children. They settled on a farm then known as McHenry Run, and joined McKee farm, now known as McKee Run, Their children were: Abraham, Mary, Elizabeth, Christopher, Jacob, Sarah, and Catherine.

Elizabeth Stuchell, daughter of pioneer John and Mary Lydick Stuchell, born on Feb. 15, 1775 and died in the year 1851, at 76. Married to James McHenry, (February 15, 1775-1810) about 1795. James McHenry was born three miles north of Indiana on the Hamilton farm. He was in the Indian War, and was a Major in the Militia two terms under Governors Snyder and McKean. Their children were: Catherine, married to Joseph Crossman; Issac; Mary; John; Elizabeth; James; and Jane.

Jane McHenry, youngest daughter of James and Elizabeth Stuchell McHenry, born on May 15, 1807 and married to William Postlewaite, the spring of 1831 (Him being born in 1805). Their children were: John, James, William, Issac, Elizabeth, Sarah, David(died), and Mary Jane.

MARY JANE POSTLEWAITE COOK

Mary Jane was born, the daughter of William and Jane McHenry Postlewaite, on March 19, 1848, and died August 6, 1936. Her parents lived on a farm near Valier, or Whitesville, as it was called at that time. Mrs. Postlewaite being very ill, and knowing she was near death, gave her new daughter Jane to be cared for to a brother-in-law and his wife, David and Jane Postlewaite. She lived with them until she was nine years old. The story I heard was that her father thought someone else in the family needed her help and he sent her there. From this time on, she worked in different homes and as is to be expected, some times her life was not easy.

On March 4, 1869, Mary Jane married Daniel Cook, son of Jacob and Catherine Kribe Cook of Perry Township, Jefferson County, Pennsylvania.

The Cook family Bible records the marriage as taking place at Frostberg by Michael Palmer, Justice of the Peace, with Nancy Bowdish and Jane Palmer as witnesses. Daniel and Mary Jane lived with his parents on the farm which was willed to him in 1880 by his father.

Daniel spent his life as a farmer. He held township offices, and was a loyal member of St. Jacob church. This is the St. Jacob church which was built at the instigation of Jacob Cook, son of Catherine and Jacob Cook, and brother of Daniel. The cemetery was also his suggestion. The minister who served Marchand, where the parsonage was located, also served St. Jacob. The church was affiliated with the Evangelical Association. When the Evangelical Association split the splinter group built a church near what is still known as St. John Church, and they named their church Ebenezer.

The Cook family entertained the minister in their home. Sometimes he walked from Marchand or rode a horse. Either way it was a long trip. Daniel Cook's advice was sought by neighbors and friends. At the time of the Civil War he did guard duty along the Patomac with Company C, 22nd Regiment of Pennsylvania Volunteers. From this time on, his health was impaired by an illness he contracted while in the service, which flared up from time to time.

Mary Jane, having knowledge of herbs, home remedies, and nursing care, was often called upon to help neighbors and friends.

After the doctor who lived in Perrysville, now called Hamilton, had given whatever medical care he had at his disposal, he would recommend that they get Mary Cook to help, especially with children.

Both Mary and Daniel Cook died of heart attacks. Daniel, while in the barn, helping his son Vernon with the chores; and Mary, after a short illness, one night.

After the death of Daniel Cook, the farm was finally bought by his son, Jacob Cook. Mary Jane, and daughters Grace and Laura moved to Hamilton. After living in a number of houses, they bought a home near the store in Hamilton. Daniel and Mary Jane are buried in St. Jacob's cemetery.

The Cook farm is now occupied by Bruce Smith and family (1970), a grandson of Levi Smith, whose home we had to pass to get to the Cook farm.

The house in Hamilton belongs to a Mr. Snyder, who is in the service at the present time, so the house is boarded up.

The following is a record of Daniel and Mary Jane Cook family.
